Step 7: My goal/purpose/mission in life

Right now at the tender age of 23 I want to enjoy going to work every day. I want to know that work I do is making a difference in the company and hopefully the company is working to improve the world. I also want to help people live a better, happier life. I want to earn enough money that I don't have to constantly work about money or fiscal responsibilities every day.

Eventually when I hopefully begin to start a family I hope I will be able to provide for them and give them every opportunity I had and more. But that is currently not on the horizon.
